Solar-Powered Turntable Vue-More, a local manufacturer that produces electric and battery powered motorized display turntables for the retail, trade show, museum and commercial markets, would like to develop a solar powered unit. There are some that exist, but their capacity is measured in ounces. Vue-More would like to develop a solar powered unit that has the capability of turning 100 pounds. The universal push for “green technology,” even in the retail marketplace is a major factor in developing an effective solar-powered turntable as well as the cost savings of supplying energy to the units. This product will be marketed domestically, but Vue-More is also working on developing an export program in which the solar-powered turntable could be included.
