Biographical Note
Percy Hughes (1872-1952) was born in Peshawar, British India to Anglican missionary parents. He then was taken to London, England at the age of three where he went to Christ's Hospital School, known as the Blue Coat School and in 1888 with his family came to New York City where his father became an Episcopal clergyman. In New York City, he worked as a clerk and attended Teachers College at Columbia University. He left Columbia University to complete his senior year at Alfred College and to accompany his sister who was already in there. After earning his A.B. from Alfred College, the President of the college asked him to teach a course in Philosophy there. He then went back to Columbia University, studied under John Dewey and earned his an MA and Ph.D.

there. From then on, Hughes and John Dewey became lifelong friends.

In 1907, Hughes came to Lehigh University as an assistant professor of Philosophy, Education and Psychology. In 1909 he became full professor. From 1909 to 1942 to his retirement, Hughes periodically was in charge of education – both extension and summer session courses – and taught psychology and philosophy, and became the Chairman of the Department of Philosophy, Psychology and Education and then the Clara H. Stewardson Professor of Philosophy. He published numerous works on Philosophy, Psychology, Education and Sports education, and was involved in extra curricular activities and sport, especially soccer. Hughes played an instrumental role in shaping the College of Education: first as a department, then a School, and finally, since 1985, one of the University's four Colleges.

The collection was compiled and donated by Elizabeth Hughes Clark, professor emerita of sociology at Arcadia (a.k.a. Beaver) College, who researched, in 2001-2002, Lehigh archives in Special Collections to find facts related to her father's years. She compiled and arranged his publications, correspondence, scrapbooks, photographs and other materials and then donated to Special Collections. Elizabeth Hughes Clark's personal memoir and biography of Percy Hughes added to this collection too.

Letter from Carl Tausch, Chief, Program Study and Discussion Section, Division of Program Planning, at the Department of Agriculture. Dated March 11, 1939 (Note: Hughes discusses this in one of his columns in the country newspaper and it may not have been a delight to the administration or Trustees. The conference was on how to make rural life more important and fulfilling in America.)

111.02.11

Other correspondence, 1930s – 1940s

Separate letters from the 1930s and 1940s that are of import:

William Montague, Barnard College to Hughes Dated March 27, 1934. (Note: This is a candid description of a happening at the Hughes household when Montague stayed with us. Hughes was known to be abstemious and so Montague brought some refreshment in his luggage and it had spilled. Mrs. Hughes rectified the dress shirt with ease and with much industry.)

Letter to Hughes from C.H. Langford, Michigan. Dated Oct. 13, 1936.

Two letters to Schillp from Whitehead re: aspects of the publication of The Library of Living Philosopher volume on Whitehead for which Hughes wrote a chapter, "Is Whitehead's Psychology Adequate"

Columns: Warren Journal

Columns headed The Book Shelf by Dr. Percy Hughes.

Thirteen weeks of columns are included in this group covering all sorts of books published nationally or simply in nearby counties such as Hunterdon County which had hired someone to bring the county's history up to date. The subjects are wide-ranging from fiction to all sorts of non-fiction but primarily available in the county libraries. Dating these columns is impossible as there are no dates included in the cuttings with the exception of the last column, January 2, 1947.

Series VIII: Publications

Folders

Articles and books by Percy Hughes. In folders by decade.

Content note by Elizabeth Hughes Clark:

These articles are those that Percy Hughes himself kept over the years. There may have been many other articles and book reviews that he did not feel it necessary to keep or which may have been tossed out during the various moves from King's Park, Long Island in the 1920s and the move to Glory Hill at Belvidere, New Jersey in the late 1930s. In between those dates are the annual pilgrimages from town to country that the family made each summer and on many weekends to one or the other of these properties.

The distinct breaks in this listing make me feel there are publications which may have been either tossed or not felt to be of compelling interest to him as he thought about his career. However, it is interesting that Hughes kept many of editorials he wrote. They were published in the weekly Warren Journal and The Apollo Journal from 1942 or 3 to 1946. These papers were published weekly in Belvidere, NJ, the county seat of Warren County, NJ. Alas, they were saved in such a way that they are frequently undated and will need considerable research in the paper's morgue in The Washington Star, the paper that bought the Journal many years ago, if, indeed, that paper is still functional.

The articles that have reference to John Dewey probably should be highlighted in some way. They are, from this selection, Dewey's introduction of Hughes' trio of articles that appeared in The Journal of Philosophy, Vol. XXIV: 'The Biotic Center of Psychology', 'The Theory and Practice of Psychology', 'The Normative in Psychology and Natural Science', 1927; 'Current Philosophical Problems', in The Journal of Philosophy, Vol. XXXIII, April 9, 1936; 'Naturalists Old and New', Papers in the Philosophy of Science, Lehigh University, The Institute of Research, July, 1935.)
