For most co-op participants, the amount of income earned during your co-op is considerably greater than what you would normally earn through summer employment. These increased earnings may impact your financial aid eligibility for the academic year following your co-op participation. However, it is also understood that you will experience increased costs for living expenses by participating in your co-op. This Income and Expense Co-op Budget form will help us better determine your actual savings for educational expenses.

	September	October	November	December	January
Net Wages (after tax)
Expenses:
Rent
Heat
Light
Telephone
Transportation
Food
Other (itemize)
Total expenses
Net wages less total expenses

The above itemization of income and expenses is accurate to the best of my abilities.
