

Prof. Chengshan Xiao Recruits PhD students for Fall 2018

Prof. Chengshan Xiao plans to recruit one or two Ph.D. students with RA plus tuition fee in the areas of Wireless Communications and Signal Processing for Fall 2018. Students who have already earned MS degrees in the related areas with outstanding academic records are welcome to contact him via email at xiaoc@lehigh.edu.

Individuals, who have strong background in nonlinear optimization, channel coding, channel estimation and equalization, linear precoding, sphere decoding and/or iterative detection, will be given higher priority for considerations.

Prof. Xiao is a Fellow of the IEEE and Fellow of Canadian Academy of Engineering. He was a Member of the Fellow Evaluation Committee of IEEE Communications Society (ComSoc), Board of Governor of IEEE ComSoc, Distinguished Lecturer of IEEE ComSoc. He has served as the Editor-in-Chief of the IEEE Transactions on Wireless Communications for 2010 through 2013. Prof. Xiao has graduated many high-quality PhD students and MS students. The students who graduated from his research group found jobs in academia and/or industry including Qualcomm Inc, Huawei Technology, Southeast University, Shanghai Jiaotong University, etc.

More information about Prof. Xiao's research can be found at <http://www.lehigh.edu/~xiaoc/>.
